

Newborns visit Nursing Home

Response amazing

Animals are amazing, and I don't know too many people who would argue that fact. They are there for us when we need a smile on our face and their actions keep us entertained nonstop. Most of us consider dogs and cats when it comes to this type of interaction, but ducklings should not be overlooked.

As an example, this mother duck visits a Nursing Home each year when she hatches her new family. She takes a stroll around the facility and then leaves with her newborn ducklings. The residents all get to say goodbye before the ducklings are gone for another year. Sharing the visit on Facebook they say, "She has us trained" as she follows the same path every year. Only the residents and employees were aware of the annual visit but that changed when things were uploaded to Facebook. It was not long before Facebook users responded.

One user Jenifer wrote: "I can't even stand how cute this is! If this is annual, she must realize it's a safe place". Another individual Marilou added: "It's wonderful to see a mama take care of her children. God bless you" TheRainforestSite.com

Windchimes

Origins and benefits

Wind chimes originated in China, where it was believed they warded off negative energy and increased the flow of 'CHI' (positive energy) in their surroundings.

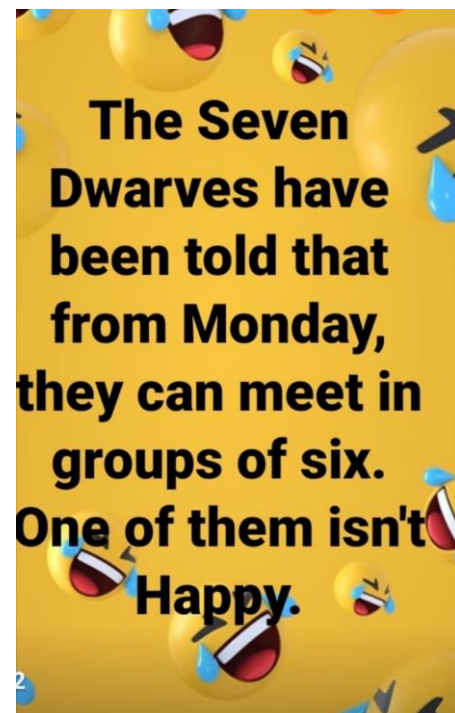

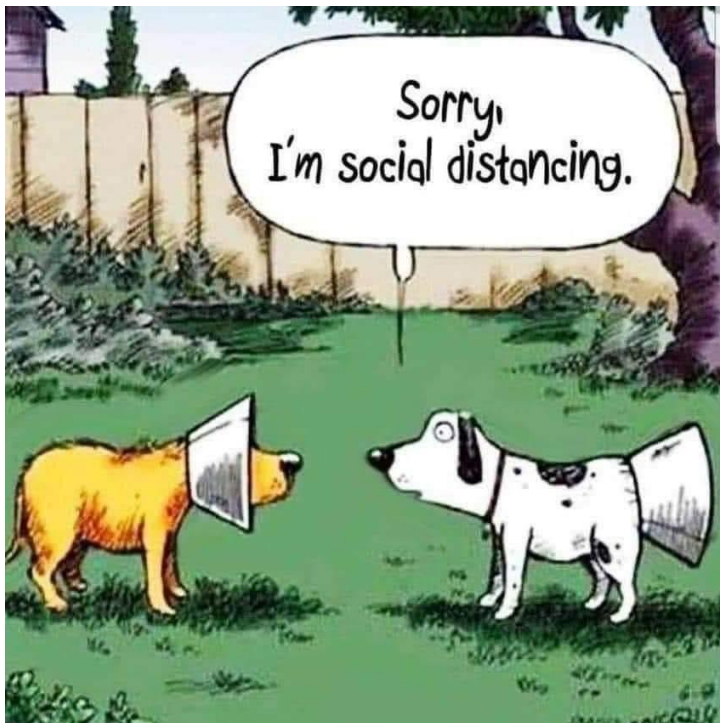

Wind chimes are played by the breeze and produce melodious sounds, sometimes tinkling, sometimes sharp, depending on the size and types of materials used.

They can be made from a wide variety of different materials including bamboo, metal, earthenware, shell, stone, aluminum, glass or porcelain. Each wind chime has its own unique tone and pitch.

Wind chimes can provide many benefits, including:

- Stimulate the senses
- Calm restless minds
- Provide entertainment and relieve boredom
- Promote interaction & communication
- Wind chimes also look beautiful!

Why not buy or make one today?

JOKES OF THE DAY:

Yesterday I saw a guy spill all his Scrabble letters on the road. I asked him, "What's the word on the street?"

Once my dog ate all the Scrabble tiles. For days kept leaving little messages around the house.
